ABOUT SME

Safepad Bangladesh produces anti-microbial, reusable cloth sanitary pads using advanced Danish technology, ensuring safety even when washed in contaminated water. The permanent anti-microbial technology effectively kills germs, providing reliable protection. The company incorporates recycled ocean plastic into its pads and empowers over 500 women through employment. Safepad sells to local and global organizations and offers IoT-enabled vending machines, while training microentrepreneurs to reach communities. With a sustainable, affordable design, Safepad also includes a black ziplock pouch for carrying used pads.

Kimberly-Clark

"If I were to describe the experience in one word, it would be inspiring, especially to work with an entrepreneur who has such incredible vision as well as a plan for making a strong impact in the future."

Entrepreneur

Tahmid Chowdhury,
Safepad BD

"Being part of the Toilet Board Coalition Accelerator has been an incredible journey. Their support has enabled us to deeply refine Safepad's technical aspects, enhancing both our product and its impact."
